PRIZE FIEND LOOSE AT PAULDING, OHIO

CRIME THAT WOULD SHAME A SAVAGE COMMITTED.

Two Children Murdered Near Defiance—Little Girl First Assaulted and Then Mutilated—Crime Discovered by Her Brother Who Is Also Slain People Clamor for Vengeance.

PAULDING, Ohio, Nov. 6.—The farm of Samuel Good, three miles north of here, has been the scene of an awful murder, equaling in horror anything ever committed by savages. Samuel Good is a hard working man starting a small farm in the woods. He had three children. One of his sons, Asheby Good, aged 9 years, had a fondness for hunting, and had made a small gun and Sunday morning went out with his sister in quest of a deer or squirrel. The little girl's name was Elsie. Night came on and no children returned. Then some neighbors started out to search for them. They tramped the woods in every direction until break of day without finding them. Then an alarm was given and several hundred men organized a searching party. About 8 o'clock yesterday morning they came upon a horrible sight. Lying between two saplings and among some burned brush were the charred and mangled bodies of the two children. The spot was in a clearing about 150 yards from the house of a man named Hart. The place and its surroundings could be plainly seen from the house. It had evidently been the intention of the murderers to conceal their crime by burning the bodies, but they had not used enough wood and what they had put on was green and only partially burned. Most of the clothes had been consumed and the flesh blackened. The boy had evidently been murdered elsewhere; probably tied and left confined for awhile, for the cords that bound his hands behind his back were still on and the marks showed that he had had time to work a good deal endeavoring to get them off. The tracks in the mud and leaves showed that he had not been dragged there. To kill him, wherever it was done, the fiends had cut his throat close up under his chin, back to his ears, following along the line of the jaw bone. He had been stabbed and slashed two or three times in the abdomen. There was a mark on his cheek where he had been hit with a club and some of his teeth had fallen out and were lying blackened in the ashes. By examining the mud and leaves the searching party soon saw that the little girl had been brought there on foot, dragged along between two men. The brother they had brought there first and his sister was then taken out to where his mangled remains were. Her throat had been cut and the head nearly severed from the body. She had also been stabbed to the heart and the body otherwise mutilated. The examination by the coroner proved that she had been criminally assaulted.

The tracks and proximity of the Hart house to the scene of the murder cast suspicion upon some of the male members of that family. Sheriff Staley arrested Charles Hart, a boy of 16 years, and Levi Cane, a colored man. The prisoners were brought to town and crowds of excited men soon collected. They have been discussing lynching and crying: "Save the state the costs."

It is claimed the prisoners have been removed to another place. The officers have maintained a deep secrecy in regard to the evidence. The neighbors claim they know how many and what tools the Harts had about their house. In searching the premises two corn cutters and an ax were found to be missing and the Har say they don't know where they are. Two bloodhounds have been brought up and it is reported a new clew has been found. If the party finds the right men they will not be brought to town alive.

WARLIKE AT NEW ORLEANS.

Robert Gould, Colored Stevedore, Shot at and Receives Twenty Wounds.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 6.—The warlike aspect of the labor trouble here has almost overshadowed interest in the election. No colored screwmen are at work. They reported in small details at the ships where they had contracts to stow cotton, and declared they would not work because of fear of violence from white screwmen. They agreed, however, to go to work Wednesday morning if protection is given them. Last night 150 screwmen armed with rifles went to Southport upon hearing a rumor that bands of negroes were collecting around the ships containing their tools. This rumor proved untrue, but while returning along the protection levee above Carrollton, they met Tom Carey and Robert Gould, two colored stevedoees. Shots were fired at the two men, who fled in haste. Gould escaped, but Carey fell with a scalp wound and two bullets in his shoulder. He started up and made another effort to escape and was again the target of the mob, receiving in all before they left him twenty wounds. He is now lying at the point of death in a shelter at Carrollton. It is generally believed that Wednesday Mayor Fitzpatrick will confess himself powerless to control the situation and that the governor will take charge and place the militia on guard on the levee.

AMERICAN COLONY EXCITED.

Two of Its Members in Mexico Arrested for Offenses in the States.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 6.—Considerable commotion has been created among the Americans here by the arrest of John Horley, former proprietor of the Topochico hotel. The cause has not yet developed, but it is stated that the arrest is on an old charge in Illinois. Another sensation was the arrest of Dr. S. J. Curry, said to be from Rome, Ga., ostensibly for his connection with a recent street row between two Americans, but it is generally understood that this is only a pretext to hold him for further advices from his home.

USED A RAWHIDE.

Female Correspondent Whipped by the Plaintiff and Her Sons.

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Harvey Campbell, wife of a prominent merchant of West Alexandria, Pueblo county, lashed the wife of Dr. Gregg with a rawhide while her three sons beat their father into insensibility and held off any assistance with revolvers. Dr. Gregg has also brought suit against Campbell, asking $40,000 damages for the alienation of his wife's affections.

Pittsburg Firemen Are Injured.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 6.—Fire broke out at 8 o'clock yesterday in Booth & Flinn's stables, which contained a large amount of baled hay. Several workmen were throwing the burning hay out of a window, when a large pile of bales fell upon them, injuring twelve persons. James Harrison was injured internally and may die. The others were not dangerously hurt.

THE OLD BOARD WINS THE SANTA FE WAR

VICTORY FOR THEM IN THE CONTEST.

Injunction Order Dismissed By the Court at Topeka—Cumulative Voting Plan Has No Standing In Court Territorial Charter Still In Force—A New Deal.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 6.—In the Santa Fe case Judge Foster has in a lengthy opinion decided in favor of the defendant, refusing to grant the injunction.

The protective committee is overwhelmingly defeated on every point. The election will be held by the stockholders and the present board of directors will be re-elected, with the possible exception of Speare and Severy, as may be agreed upon by the old board. It is the opinion of counsel for the directors that the whole matter has been finally settled and will not again come up in any form.

The protectives have one appeal—to the United States Circuit court of appeals, composed of Judges Caldwell, Sanborn and Thayer, but this can not prevent an election, and furthermore it is altogether unlikely that this appeal will be taken. Messrs. Wollman and Summerfield, attorneys for the protectives, say that the case will come up on a final hearing for a permanent injunction in the United States Circuit court in June next, but Attorney Ware, for the other side, laughs at this, taking the ground that the refusal to grant the temporary injunction carries with it a foregone conclusion on the question of permanent injunction.

Judge Foster's opinion was largely oral and filled with numerous citations. In reviewing the case the court said in reference to its importance and in ruling against the protectives:

The complainants bring a bill praying that the defendants may be enjoined from interfering with certain alleged rights. They charge that the defendant stockholders, having in control a majority of the stock, have combined together to prevent the defendant from casting his vote according to the statutes of the state or by the cumulative plan of voting. Now, in determining this question its importance must be apparent. This great railroad system is now in charge of the court and the power of the directors is unimportant, but sooner or later the property will be turned over to its owners.

The plaintiffs claim that the original charter has been modified by subsequent legislation. They also claim that congress has absolute power over the territory and that congress admitted that power when the territory was admitted as a state.

Northern Pacific Deals.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—Judge Jenkins yesterday heard arguments about the proposed suit against Henry Villard and others to recover money made out of some of the Northern Pacific transactions, notably the famous Chicago terminal deal and the Manitoba deal. Judge Jenkins will be asked to order the receiver, with whom the right of action lies, to institute proceedings against Mr. Villard.

Has Not Asked for New War Credits.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The Temps says: "The statements that the government has decided to ask credits for a Madagascar expedition are altogether incorrect or premature. The government will wait another dispatch from Le Meyre de Villers before taking the definite steps, for only then can it be known whether or not a rupture has taken place."

A HEAVY VOTE CAST IN ALL THE STATES

CHICAGO'S BALLOTS NEARLY ALL IN AT NOON.

Rewards For Illegal Voting and Fraud tend to Keep things Orderly—Big Vote In New York—Tillman Will Carry South Carolina—Storm In New England.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Two thirds of the votes here were cast before eleven o'clock. The vote is very heavy. There has been no serious trouble except in the Third ward, where a republican challenger was roughly handled. Rewards for illegal voting and fraud has been offered by the civic federation, republicans and other organizations which amount to five hundred dollars in each case This had good effect

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Voting here and throughout the state has been slow but heavy. The constitutional amendments have tendency to retard voting.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—[Special]—Returns from all parts of the country indicate that this will be one of the heaviest votes ever recorded. The storm which is prevailing in New England has made very little difference in the vote.

Reports from South Carolina indicate that Tillman is having everything his own way, and possibly the entire populist delegation to congress will be elected.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6—[Special].—The indications at Oshkosh and La Crosse are for a big republican landslide.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—It is expected by the managers of both parties that upward of 1,200,000 votes will be cast to-day in this state. Confident claims are made by both sides on the local issue. The supporters of the committee-of-seventy ticket predict that Tammany will be downed by a "tidal wave," and say that for this reason all estimates of figures on the local result are worthless. Democratic party managers, however, are confident of the election of Senator Hill, and the betting last night was more even than at any time since the opening of the campaign.

TO GO TO THE WHITE HOUSE.

Cabinet Members to Receive Bulletins in the Executive Mansion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Although the President may not visit the city to-day, all the members of the cabinet who are in Washington will make the white house their headquarters for the purpose of getting something early as well as reliable. Arrangements have been made by which bulletins will be sent from both press associations to the white house and besides there is a special telegraph wire from the Western Union main office over which private messages will be transmitted for the information of the President and his advisers.

Trouble Feared in Montana.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 6.—All national issues are overshadowed in Montana by the local question of the permanent location of the state capital, which is to be decided at the election to-day. The fight is between the cities of Anaconda and Helena, the latter the temporary seat of government. The most bitter general feeling has been aroused, especially in Butte and other cities where the laboring people are in the majority, and there are grave fears of trouble at the polls. Hundreds of deputy sheriffs and special policemen have been sworn in in anticipation of trouble in Butte, and the militia has also been notified to be in readiness in case of need.

Political Outlook in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 6.—The campaign in Omaha last night wound up in grand rallies and parades by the three parties, in which much red fire was burned. The prospects are reported from all parts of the state to be flattering for the democratic-populist fusion ticket, though the republicans assert the state will be theirs by a rousing majority. It is doubtful whether the result on any office will be know before Wednesday night. Owing to the distance from telegraph stations of a number of the counties, the returns will have to be carried on horseback for many miles.

Feeling at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The campaign work is over, and now on the eve of election the republican congressional committee claims the next house of representatives. Democrats are equally confident that they will be upheld in the coming elections. New York city and Chicago are expected to furnish the earliest data for a guess as to the result, as each city closes its polls at 4 o'clock and each has an excellent system of collecting the returns.

The Election in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The election today promises to be the most bitterly contested of any ever held in Cook county. The leaders of both the old parties last night expressed the utmost confidence in victory, while the populist leaders claim that they will poll between 60,000 and 75,000 votes.

Republicans Active in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Kentucky to-day elects eleven congressmen for the full term and one in the Tenth district to fill out the unexpired term of Congressman Lisle, deceased; four Appellate judges and county officers. Owens' election is made doubtful because many friends of Breckinridge have refused to support him. The feeling between these factions is intense and bitter. There is a suppressed feeling of excitement which forbodes trouble to-day.

Ohio Democrats Are Hopeful.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 6.—The election in Ohio to-day is only for minor state and local officers, in addition to congressmen. The fighting has been limited to close districts for congressmen. The present Ohio delegation in congress consists of eleven democrats and ten republicans. Serg in the Third, Ritchie in the Ninth, Outhwaite in the Twelfth, Johnson in the Twentieth, and others are considered doubtful of re-election.

Triple Minnesota Contest.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 6.—Minnesota will to-day elect a full state, congressional and legislative ticket and all three leading parties make great claims. The populist committee claims the election of Sydney M. Owen for governor, without giving figures, and asserts that they will hold the balance of power in the legislature. Senator Washburn's re-election is assured if the legislature is republican.

Both Sides Confident.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—Both sides are confident of carrying Indiana. Chairman Taggart of the democratic state committee claimed a majority of thirteen congressmen. Chairman Gowdy of the republican committee would give no figures, but he said that the state would go overwhelmingly republican, and that more than a majority of the congressmen would be republicans.

The Wisconsin Situation.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6.—The campaign closed last night with no demonstration by the republicans. The democrats held half a dozen meetings in this city and county and the populists, with their allies the labor unions, paraded the streets over 5,000 strong. Populists are cock sure they will carry the county. So are the republicans and democrats.

He Has Not Written Any Letter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A dispatch from Albion, N. Y., printed yesterday, gives extract from a letter purporting to have been written by President Cleveland to Robert L. Thatcher, upon the political situation. It can be stated on authority that the President has not written any letter bearing upon the existing political canvass in New York state.

Four Tickets in the Field.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 6.—California elects this year a complete state ticket, several congressmen and a legislature. There are four tickets in the field—democratic, republican, populist and prohibition. The next legislature will elect a United States senator to succeed Senator Perkins, who was appointed by the governor to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Stanford.

Tillman's Man Expected to Win.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 6.—The election in this state to-day is the first general election at which there has been any contest since 1876, when the state was wrested from the hands of the republicans. The indications are that the vote will be very close, but it is generally conceded Evans will be elected.

In Wilson's District.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The situation in Wilson's district is unchanged. Both sides are confident and matters are in great doubt. Republicans believe they will make large gains in the legislature, and the democrats concede the claim, but say it will be safely democratic.

Iowa Thought to Be Doubtful.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 6.—It is unmistakably true that the Ninth district is in some doubt, and that the fact is thoroughly realized in republican circles. Preparations have been made for a big vote and all parties are working hard for victory. The result can not be foretold.

Republicans Claim Washington.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 6.—Washington to-day elects two congressmen-at-large and two justices of the Supreme court and vote on an important constitutional amendment in regard to investment of state funds. The republicans claim they will win by at least 5,000.

Claim Rich's Election.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 6.—Republican state central committee claim Gov. Rich will be re-elected by upwards of 50,000 plurality. The democrats announced that they would control the state senate, but the republicans will not concede even this to them.

Dakota in the Fight.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 6.—All sorts of claims in regard to the result of to-day's election are being made by both sides. Republicans are betting 2 to 1 on their full ticket and particularly on the sheriff.

At Gov. Waite's Home.

ASPEN, Colo., Nov. 6.—Pitkin county, the home of Gov. Waite, will roll in a large majority to-day for the populist ticket. Republicans have made a great fight, but it is not thought it will avail.

SEVEN SHIPS FIRED AT SAVANNAH, GA.

BRITISH BOATS AND CARGOES SET BY FIREBUGS.

Unemployed Union Cotton Longshoremen Supposed to Have Done It in Revenge for Defeat—Total Damage Is Estimated at $65,000—Blazes Started In Six Vessels.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 6.—Flames broke out last night in six British cotton ships in the harbor almost simultaneously. Six hours later a seventh fire was discovered, also in a British cotton ship.

The first alarm came from the steamship Skidby. Fire broke out about 6:30 p. m. in the No. 3 hold, where were 2,600 bales of cotton, all of which were more or less damaged. They were rapidly pulled out and out on lighters. Fifteen minutes later the firemen were called to the steamship Baltimore City, at the Savannah, Florida and Western wharf, about two miles from the Skidby, which was at the Central wharf. The fire was found in the fore hold of the Baltimore City and was soon put out, 100 bales of cotton being damaged.

The fire had not been discovered a minute before an alarm was given from the steamship Castlegarth, which lay alongside the Baltimore City. Here the flames appeared in three holds. There were 4,600 bales of cotton on board and about 600 of them were damaged by fire and water.

Shortly after the firemen got to work on the Castlegarth fire was discovered in the steamer Stag at the Gordon wharf, about half a mile from the Baltimore City. Not much damage was done here. A few minutes later an alarm was sounded for fire on the Delgarth, a steamer at the central wharf, half a mile from any of the other steamers. This fire damaged about 400 bales and was discovered at the same time in two holds. The Petunia was the next to give the alarm. Of this ship about 200 bales were damaged.

At midnight the seventh fire was discovered on the steamship Armenia, loading for Bremen at the Central railroad wharf. It is estimated in the aggregate 4,900 bales of cotton have been damged. The loss is thought to be about $65,000.

Up to last spring the cotton ships loaded here by union labor. This season, however, the ship brokers substituted non-union labor. There was an outbreak among the union and non-union men about two months ago, in which two or three men were wounded, but since then there has been no trouble of any consequence. Last night's fires, however, indicate the trouble is not yet over. The ship brokers and underwriters are all agreed the fires are of incendiary origin.

Ogdensburg Warehouse Burned.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 6.—A large warehouse owned by the Hannen Towing company was burned last night. The steamer Plumb, lying off the dock, was badly scorched. The Plumb was burned a year ago and lately built. A yacht owned by H. G. Chandler was burned and sank.

Creamery Burned Down.

WABASH, Ind., Nov. 6.—The Roann creamery, owned by John H. Sayre, at Roann, this county, was burned yesterday with costly machinery. The loss is 6,000, insured in the Orient for $2,000. The blaze is thought incendiary.

AID OF THE VETERANS.

Aim Commander Watrous Sets Before the G. A. R.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 6.—Department Commander Watrous of the Wisconsin G. A. R. will outline a new policy in an address to the members of the order in Wisconsin which he will issue to-day. A good deal has been said by members in the past about working to increase the membership of the order and the department commander has been urged to call for new members. While the commander would appreciate new additions to the G. A. R. he believes much more good can be done by seeing to it that present members are not suffering for any of the necessities of life than by urging veterans to enter the order who have failed to join it in years past.

Incendiary Makes Confession.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 6.—Emery Coulson, a watchman employed at the plant of the G. H. Hammond Packing company, last night confessed to having set fire to the building Sunday night. He said he did it that he might win promotion by discovering the flames before they did material damage. The penalty is from ten to twenty years in the penitentiary.

China Wants Peace.

ROME, Nov. 6.—A dispatch received from Pekin says China is disposed to conclude peace with Japan on a basis of a guarantee of the independence of Corea and the payment of indemnity, the amount to be fixed by the powers. The dispatch adds it is reported China has invited the representatives of the powers to intervene to secure peace.

Berkeley Oval for the Big Game.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Yale-Princeton football game on Thanksgiving day will in all probability be played at Berkeley Oval.

Misery After Meals.

The oppressive embargoes levied upon the inner man by his inveterate enemy, dyspepsia, after meals, are lifted and the yoke cast off by that sovereign medicinal liberator from bodily ailments, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Heartburn, flatulency, oppression at the pit of the stomach, the presence of bile where it does not belong, are alike remedied by this potent reformer of a disordered condition of the gastric organ and the liver. It is the prince of tonics and stomachics, invigorating at the same time that it remedies. Both appetite and sleep are improved by it. A wineglass before or after meals, and before retiring, will be found an efficient restorative of the ability to digest and assimilate and rest tranquilly. Use it for malarial, kidney and rheumatic trouble and for constipation. For the aged and infirm it is highly beneficial.

Pimples, blackheads, moles, freckles, tan and sunburn removed by Johnson's Oriental Soap. Medicinal. Sold by Smith's Pharmacy.

H. Heineman, Milwaukee, writes: "One box of Japanese Pile Cure has cured me of a case of twenty-eight years standing, after being treated by New York's best physicians." Sold by Smith's Pharmacy.

FOLLIES AND FOIBLES.

"What is Sluggins doing now?" "He has opened a school of vocal culture." "Not singin'?" "Naw; pugilism."

Jiggs—Weren't you surprised at the way things turned out? Jaggs—No, I expected the unexpected would happen.

Hayes—I wonder why Brown sold the watchdog he used to blow about so much. Jackson—A tramp stole the chain the dog was tied to.

Editor—Who wrote these verses? Poet, proudly—I did, sir. Editor—Well, it's fortunate for you that you are so much my physical superior.

HYZER AND D. B. HILL IN THE SAME CLASS

"I AM A DEMOCRAT" IS THE CRY OF BOTH.

Janesville Lawyer Flays Both Federal Courts and the United States Army and After Spending Eight Years On the Fence Drops Into the Lap of Democracy.

After spending eight years on the fence, E. M. Hyzer dropped into the lap of democracy last night and almost before he had landed, and the small audience present had bestowed their puny applause, he proceeded to affirm the decision of the supreme court in the treasury cases, and tear down the federal courts for alleged usurpation of power. This done he turned John Hogan down by declaring that he "would advocate the election of the cheapest man, and no one ought to care whether he was republican, democrat or populist." Daniel O. Bassett, the prohibition candidate is the "cheapest man," he cutting under Hogan for $1,000. This Mr. Hyzer had evidently forgotten.

The whole thing was a comedy. First the band played for the populist rally at Lappin's opera house and then they marched up to the Myers Here they played democratic music. Finally it got so late that they couldn't expect any more people to come, so they went inside. Some difficulty was had in getting men to go on the stage, but finally a dozen or two filed on, and V. P. Richardson introduced Mr. Hyzer.

"If any of you gentlemen in the back part of the house want to sit down, there are plenty of empty seats down here in front," he said, and he told the truth.

Audience Chinked With Boys.

Then he introduced Mr. Hyzer, and a feeble round of applause followed. Mr. Hyzer looked out on a small audience in which several small boys served to chink in. Half the seats, perhaps a little more, were occupied.

Mr. Hyzer evidently feared the tariff issue, for the whole of his speech centered on the request that the voters "divorce national affairs from their local politics," or in other words, not to "lam" John Hogan for what Cleveland did. He alleged that a wave of extravagance had swept over the country and scored booms 'atories. John W. Hamilton's enterprises, while they were not mentioned as such, came in for a roasting which touched up one or two men on the stage. Then he referred to the new county asylum by calling it a "monument of extravagance." This made C. C. McLean, the democratic supervisor who moved that the board enter into the contract, wince a little, but he applauded with the rest.

"Would you spend all that money again?" he thundered, and then waited for a reply, but none came.

High taxes would continue until "they divorced national from local affairs" he insisted, and a man with his skin full yelled.

"John W. Hogan for sheriff."

Then it was that the speaker declared himself in favor of the "cheapest man" thereby administering a figurative slop to the man with the jag.

The country had been robbed by the men in the sheriffs office and with a flight of eloquence he told how John W. Hogan had come forward and abated it. Then he wanted to know "where the effrontery of politicians would stop" but no one in the audience could tell him. He said the supreme court was quoted to show that Hogan's bid was a bribe.

Courts Should be Jumped On.

"It is about time" he thundered while speaking of this, "that the courts receive notice from the people that efforts to reduce expenses are not bribery!"

Getting no demonstration of approval he said that no reform in the state was of equal importance in proportion as that inaugurated by Mr. Hogan.

"Will you endorse the man and the party that did it?" he asked, but the audience were tongue tied and didn't say a word, so he asked them if they were tired, and half a dozen said "go on."

"I would put up offices to the lowest bidder!" he said, but the remark fell like a chunk of lead, so he qualified it.

Then he admitted that he was a democrat "made so by state and national affairs." In the treasury cases the supreme court decree suited him better than it did in Hogan's case so he patted them on the other side by affirming their decision that taking the interest was an "illegal transaction." Then he asked the audience if they were tired and a few said "go on."

"Now I want to talk a little of national affairs and I suppose I will be charged with being an anarchist" he said. The labor question, he continued was the great question and abandoning the democratic doctrine he proceeded to admit that money power ruled the party sometimes and that doubtless some senators were "sugared. The power of the railroads was incalculable. They had developed lawyers and got them on the bench as federal judges.

Railroads Run the Judges.

"Upon the federal benches sit the creatures of railroad and other corporations" he insisted. Corporate interests put them there, that is the majority of them, where they usurped power.

"We find the federal benches arrayed against the people" he went on "Law after law is legislated into existence by the federal courts. They issue injunctions against whole communities which is usurping power."

State of Wis ex rel., Greenwood vs. Burdge et al., constituting school city, of Beloit.

Then he "roasted" the federal courts because they tried contempt of the court cases without a jury. When these judges could arrest a man for violating these injunctions and try him without a jury the people's liberties were in danger. Last summer they armed hundreds of deputies to protect the corporations.

"What means it when the United States army is at the behest of the railroad companies?" he asked. "General Miles was in constant communication with the railroad managers and the federal army was turned over to the railway companies! Not to prevent the interference with the mails but to protect freight trains!"

This he said would lead to a military despotism or a revolution, he didn't know which and the audience didn't seem to care.

Just before Mr. Hyzer ceased speaking, the man with the "jag" got up and swore that if they "didn't support Hogan he'd raise ——" which startled the few ladies present. Hogan then ceased to be "candidate" long enough to conduct his drunken supporter into the open air.

COOKSVILLE GAS NEARLY FATAL.

Miss Mary Setzer Found Unconscious Beside a Leaky Stove.

Cooksville, Nov. 6—Miss Mary Setzer came very near being suffocated by coal gas on Thursday night. Miss Setzer came here October 29 to engage in dressmaking. Her coal stove proved to be defective and she came very near losing her life thereby. Seeing no stir about the premises at ten o'clock Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Stoneburner went to see if she was there, but receiving no reply when they called, they forced the door open. Miss Setzer was insensible but help was summoned and everything done possible for her recovery. Dr. Colony was sent for and to his energetic efforts the lady owes her life although the neighbors did all they could. Mr. Setzer, the father, was telegraphed for at his home in Wonewoc and Miss Mary will return with him to remain until her usual health is restored. She has the sympathy and help of the whole community and all join in wishing a pleasant journey and speedy recovery. Miss Maud Herrick of Edgerton is visiting friends here. CARRY COUNTY, STATE AND NATION.

The crowd of cheering workingmen who listened to Hon. T. P. Keator's stirring tariff speech at the opera house Saturday night indicated, and in no uncertain way, what will occur wherever there is an election today. So rapt was their attention that there was no scattering applause but every point that the speaker made was greeted with a composite outburst that showed that there were no idle curiosity seekers in that audience; they were men who came to learn, to ponder on the knowledge gained and to put it to use. Tariff tinkering has sounded the death knell of the national democracy; the thievish roster job has killed the state democracy; short accounts and the malignant slanders used havekilled the county democracy. Now as of old it will be:

Republican Janesville!
Republican Rock county!
Republican United States of America!
Hurrah!!!

THE CAMPAIGN IS OVER.

The close of the campaign finds the republican party hopeful. Before midnight the general result throughout the country will be known. The indications all point to republican victories, and yet there are elements of uncertainty peculiar to the campaign. In our state the Lutheran vote will have much to do with majorities. Throughout the west the populist and labor element is an unknown quantity, and yet to any thinking mind it does not seem possible that democracy shall be permitted to continue its destructive rule. The same spirit of loyalty exists to-day that characterized the republican party two years ago, and unless the signs of the time are very deceptive, the party has been strongly reinforced by an element that deserted it for "a change" in the last national campaign.

If success crowns republican efforts to-day, both houses of congress will be redeemed, and national prosperity will result.

A MAN WITHOUT A PARTY.

Any thinking man who listened to Mr. Hyzer's tirade last night, could but be convinced of one fact; that he was talking against time, and out of harmony with all parties. A deplorable condition—too good for democracy; too pure for a republican, an apostle of a nameless creed, with an aimless political existence. If Mr. Hyzer had a political following which happily, he has not, he would be recognized as the exponent of destruction to any organization that lifted its head, a political Bob Ingersoll, no use for any party too good for this mundane sphere, and hardly good enough to be translated.

While Mr Hyzer discussed Hyzerism at the opera house, his side partner Mr. Haviland held forth at Lappin's, showing that great minds run in the same ruts.

CHEAP BUCKWHEAT FROM CANADA.

Rock county farmers will be pleased to learn doubtless, that our democratic friends are making it possible for them to have cheap buckwheat this winter. This cheering information comes from Portage where W. Cork & Co., millers, bought a car of Canadian buckwheat at 60 cents a bushel. The price has been 80 cents for Wisconsin buckwheat on the market.

"But suppose Rock county farmers raise buckwheat themselves and would rather get eighty cents for it?"

They have no business to raise it They should be content to eat it. The Wilson bill didn't figure on the American farmer's interest. It helps the Canadian farmer. What more do you want?

Some people are very hard to please.

"I am a democrat!" { D. B Hill, E. M. Hyzer.

Next!

HE WAS HONEST.

And Deplored the Rascality of the Age in Which He Lived.

"Honesty in politics?" said the man who was dining at the table next to the window. "Huh, there isn't any such thing. That's a fiction that was played out long ago. Nowadays it is the man with the biggest fortune who gets the offices. I tell you that this country has reached a deplorable state of morals."

"How's that?" asked the man who sat across from him.

"Why, there is no honesty in business, social or political life. The elections are crooked. The vilest sorts of schemes are resorted to in order to get votes. Men are openly bribed. Men who get into office steal everything they can get their hands on. It's the same way in business, too. You can never tell when to trust a man. People you have dealt with for years do not hesitate to do you up if they get a chance. They sell you poor goods at high prices. They use all sorts of dishonest means to get your trade, and when they get it they at once proceed to get even by cheating you. And in society—why, society is rotten to its core. Honesty is as scarce as purity. There is nothing too mean for these people who pretend to be the leaders of the social sets. I am disgusted with the whole business. I had a good mother who taught me to be honest and I have always tried to live up to her teachings. I can look any man in the face and say that I am an honest man. But—Let's get out of here and back to the office."

His friend picked up the check and passed it over to him. As he did so he remarked: "That fool of a waiter has made a mistake of sixty cents in our bill."

"Too much?" inquired the honest man.

"No; too little."

The honest man grabbed his hat. "Hurry up," he said, "and perhaps we can get out of here before he finds it out. That's just so much money saved."

THE QUESTION.

The Small Boy's Query Which Rather Posed the Man Who Snored.

When one snores in his sleep he is very much chagrined to be caught in the act. In fact, he usually denies the soft impeachment vehemently and scoffs at the very idea as preposterous.

"What! me snore!" says he in an injured and surprised tone. "No indeed. Nothing of the kind." But he does snore just the same, and his protestations are about as effectual as a woman's talk about her age.

There was a jolly old father who had this bad habit of snoring and denying it. One day he fell asleep in his chair before the fire and the room resounded with his sonorous snores. His family laughingly watched him as he sat there and his little son, aged about five years, was perhaps the most interested of his spectators and auditors.

Finally something or other woke the father up and he was rather amazed to see everybody look at him with a meaning smile.

"That settles the snore question," said one of the family, laughing; "you have too many witnesses against you now."

"But I wasn't asleep and I didn't snore," said the accused emphatically.

His little son looked at him dubiously for a moment and then said:

"Wath you dust amuthin' yourtheif?"

PINCHING FOREIGN WAITERS.

They Are Even Forced to Fork Over a Share of Their Tips.

Waiters in the foreign restaurants of London have distinct grievances that should be remedied, if the statements of a German waiter are to be believed. He makes complaint of the annoyance and anxiety suffered by himself in common with other members of his class, owing to a system of sweating of the most obnoxious kind which, he asserts is practiced in restaurants that are kept and mainly frequented by foreigners. The proprietors of these restaurants not only pay their waiters nothing, but exact from them a premium of sometimes as much as half a sovereign for the privilege of attending to the wants of customers, and performing other duties for twelve or sixteen hours a day. In those restaurants largely patronized by Englishmen and Americans, it seems that these men are able to earn a more or less meager income, even though their masters impose a further tax upon them by charging for attendance in the bill, but where the customers hail from countries in which tipping does not obtain, they find the struggle for existence both bitter and disappointing.

A KNIFE

in the hand of a Surgeon gives you a feeling of horror and dread. There is no longer necessity for its use in many diseases formerly regarded as incurable without cutting.

The Triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that RUPTURE or Breach, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses can be thrown away! They never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

TUMORS Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the perils of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting.

STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlet, references and all particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

HAMNER DIDN'T HIT JOHNSON'S DEVIL

ONE OF THE NEW DIGGINS MINISTERS EXONERATED.

While He Sanctioned the Thumping that His Satanic Majesty's Deputy Got While Concealed In the Other Ministers Anatomy He Didn't Actually "Lam" Him Himself.

REV. HAMNER, the New Diggins minister has been released from liability in the Johnson devil killing case on the grounds that he didn't take an active part in the "removal." The verdict was against the Rev. Messrs, Ka m, Webb and Hamner and found $300 damages for Johnson for personal injuries inflicted by the three defendants. The verdict as to the Rev. Hanmer was set aside by Judge Clementson on the ground that under the charge of the court and under the evidence it was unwarranted. The court instructed the jury that if they found that an assault and battery had been committed, they could not find against Hanmer unless they found that he knew that injury was being done to Johnson and that Hanmer stood by and aided and abetted the assault. It was not contended that Hanmer did more than to stand by and sanction the proceening. The jury found against Hanmer, but the court held that there was not sufficient reason.

IF the people of this city and vicinity are today buying dry goods cheap they must give the firm of Bort, Bailey & Co. a fair share of the credit for hammering down the prices. This firm have, during all the summer and fall been making such extraordinary cuts on dry goods that for thirty miles around, people have been coming to their store. They are watching the dry goods' markets and are always the first to come to the people with the low figures. You can depend upon this firm to always give you the best goods for the least money.

WHY didn't the jeweler finish his ad in yesterday's Gazette and say shoe-store as well as grocery and clothing store was no place to buy a good watch? It were better that the party keep in remembrance the (Golden Rule). I want to say to the public at large, that you can buy as fine a watch at a shoe store and just as cheap, as you can at a so-called music and jewelry store. Come and see for yourself. Repairing neatly done. Friend Jeweler, H. F. Nott.

IT is usually expected that an election day's trade will not be as large as on other days. A person visiting our store to-day would not be reminded of election day. The great Red Figure mark down sale is keeping things lively. No such sale was ever held here before. People are fast finding out that we are in earnest. Our mark down prices tell. J. M. WILL a bill for the free coinage of silver ever be passed? If you think it will and if you have money to invest and want a safe, sure thing, look in the Milwaukee show window of A. F. Hall & Co., the "reliable jewelers" and see how much more silver you can get for your money than your money weighs.

LIGHT VOTE IS CAST IN THE BOWER CITY

MANY DEMOCRATS ARE REMAINING AT HOME.

Republican Managers Are Much Encouraged at this—Six People Challenged For Alleged Illegal Voting In the Second Watd—Vote at 3 O'clock Was 2,322.

In the second precinct of the Second ward there were half a dozen challenges in the first few hours of the voting today. A number of Syrians had been placed on the registry by affidavits, and as each appeared to deposit his ballot, was challenged and compelled to swear in his vote. It is claimed that many of these people have not been in this country a year, and should this be sustained, some one will suffer penalty after election is over. In the other precincts there were but few challenges.

The election to-day passed very quietly. Voters were not hurrying to the polls in any of the precincts in the early part of the day, not nearly half a vote being polled at the noon hour. No disturbances of any character occurred anowhere near the polls. Quite a number of voters appeared who were not registered, but these were permitted to vote after making the proper affidavits, accompanied with affidavits of two free holders.

Very Few "Scratched."

Very few voters scratched their tickets. This could be ascertained by those keeping watch of the voter in the booth, most of whom remained long enough to mark the little square at the top of the ticket. Republicans all were very confident of a sweeping victory, but this can only be verified by the returns after the vote has been counted.

A representative of the Gazette visited all the precincts at 3 o'clock this afternoon, finding the vote cast at that hour as follows:

FIRST WARD.
First Precinct	176
Second Precinct	271
SECOND WARD.
First Precinct	167
Second Precinct	231
THIRD WARD.
First Precinct	301
Second Precinct	295
FOURTH WARD.
First Precinct	269
Second Precinct	310
FIFTH WARD.
One Precinct	292
Total	2322

MANY MEN WANTED TO GO TO WORK

Ryan & Brown's Little Advertisement Brought Them All They Wanted.

"Talk about advertising for laborers," said Contractor John Brown this morning. "That little notice in The Gazette last evening, saying we wanted fifty men at the steamboat landing at 6 o'clock this morning, told the whole story. Before I got my supper, over fifty had applied to me for a job, and many more applied this morning. Yes, we are at work on the county sewer with all the men we can work in the trenches. Some of the trench is quite deep, over eleven feet, and it will require considerable extra work to keep the banks from caving in."

A Few Facts.

For several months a certain shoe house in Janesville has seen fit to make reference to us in many of their advertisements as "The Other Shoe Firm in our Block," quoting prices not only on their own wares but fixing prices to suit their convenience, on our goods We stand ready, if called upon, to at any time make affidavit, if necessary, that in every instance where they made comparison between their shoes "either as to style, price or quality," and our goods, they published falsehoods, not innocently, but with full knowledge of the incorrectness of their statements. For instance: The "7 Button Wonder," so called a wonder only from the fact that shoes costing but $1.75 a pair at wholesale, made in imitation of shoes worth $3.50 should be sold for $2 48 by people who would have you believe that they do business honestly. Shoes advertised for $3.50 costing but $2.50 a pair at wholesale, equal to their neighbors goods at $5.00. We are called upon to make these statements in justice to ourselves. Such profits as these would be highly satisfactory to any retailer. Marzluff & Co. are the home manufacturers referred to in their ads., and are the firm who makes these shoes We publish these facts with their knowledge and consent. Marzluff & Co. will bear us out in our statement that these so unwisely advertised shoes are made by them and are the cheapest and lowest grades of shoes made by them. Such wilful misrepresentations as has been indulged in by the above referred to shoe house, reflect not only upon any dealer who handles the best goods made by Marzluff & Co, but grossly misrepresents the factory itself. The expression, "Mind your Ps and Qs," arose from an old custom of innkeepers marking down the scores of their customers on the wall or door with a bit of charcoal. Q stood for quart, P for pint, and a hint to mind one's Ps and Qs was equivalent to a reminder that he was drinking too much.

CROWN'S PAST LIFE DEEP IN MYSTERY

EDGERTON BUTCHER WHO DIED HAD A HISTORY.

Thought that He Was the Erring Son of Wealthy Parents for two Fine Looking Young Chicago Ladies Came for the Body But Wouldn't Talk.

The wayward son of good parents was Charles Crown, the butcher who died at Edgerton as the result of the improper use of chloral. Crown had not been the best citizen in Edgerton and judging from his own statements he had not been the best citizen in the state of Washington when he had lived there for he freely admitted that he had killed a man there. When he died the body was interred in the Potters field without delay as it was not known where his folks lived or whether he had any or not.

The other day two fine appearing and well dressed young ladies arrived in Edgerton from Chicago and said that they were sisters of the dead man. They were quite indignant to think that their brother had been laid to rest in the pauper's grave while they had money to pay for a funeral so they had the body dug up and took it home with them. There is a mystery about Crown's life that Edgerton people could not fathom. The two young ladies were apparently of an educated and wealthy famly and had all the money they needed. They refused to talk about their brother and left the impression that he was the wayward scion of a rich and influential family and that his folks had not known for years, where he was.

FROCKS FOR GIRLS.

A Pretty Fashion That Is Helpful In Remodeling Gowns.

The most awkward age at which to dress young girls is that between 11 and 15 or 16. The fast growing limbs are difficult to suit, and the necessity for providing deep hems and turnings as a precautionary measure for the days when the garments will be all too short tends to make them clumsy wear.

Only the wealthy can afford to have their daughters' gowns of the exact dimensions that look most graceful, for if so cut they have to be replaced by others in a few weeks. Those who have to cut their coat according to their cloth are obliged to find means to adapt the cloaks and dresses to the increasing inches of the wearer. Sometimes it is easy enough to add a trimming of such a character that it need not betray the motive for applying it.

A band of velvet or plush is often an artistic addition to a frock, especially if the material be of a neutral color. The recent fashion favors such devices, and as both velvet and velveteen will be very largely used in trimming dresses this winter no one need fear to apply it to the above purpose. The edge of the skirt when too short could be lengthened by a band of the silk or one of beaver. The former is preferable for a child's wear, but a little fur on the bodice is not objectionable and very becoming to the young faces, with their clear, youthful coloring.

A pretty costume for a girl of 15 years old is shown in the accompanying sketch. It is of gray cloth and blue velvet and is trimmed with astrakhan. The cloth skirt is plainly faced with velvet half way to the waist, the top and bottom of the facing being trimmed with a band of astrakhan. A stitched pocket flap, with buttons, is placed on each hip. The bodice has a double jacket front, the upper jacket being of cloth and the lower of velvet, opening over a cloth vest. The tight cloth sleeves have a puff from shoulder to elbow, and wrists, jackets and neck are bordered with astrakhan.

CLOAKS AND CAPES.

Heavy Woolens For General Wear and Velvet For Dressy Occasions.

With the return of cooler days and the necessity for wraps of some sort the enormous bow of watered ribbon reappears as a finish for the outside garment. There are also some new models, with ends of soft silk or Japanese crape attached to either side. These ends are tied in a bow at the front and hang half way down the skirt. If one does not like the crushing of the material, the bow may be ready made and hooked underneath the front. These bows have points of advantage, in that they give an excellent effect to the costume and do away with the necessity for elaborate vests.

Winter capes and cloaks should not be so heavy as to drag injuriously from the shoulders. There are light but warm tweeds and cloths that can be utilized for this purpose. Those lined with tartan are not always light, but only in the best qualities. A feltlike stiff ones is far from being a recommendation, preventing the cape or cloak from falling in protectively to the figure. The stiff ones that could "stand alone" hang away from the wearer and let all the cold breezes play about her arms and chest. The little capes that are used as a finish to capes, pelisses and dresses are sometimes highly decorative. They are often made of plush in some rich color, such as green, blue or heliotrope, though the pelisse itself may be of a woolen texture, such as tweed or cloth.

For general wear capes are shown made of heavy cheviot, serge or astrakhan. They are ample in width and longer than last winter's capes, so long indeed that they seem likely to be forerunners of the return of the full length circular.

The wrap of which a picture is given is of black velours du nord and black moire. It has a velvet jacket body, with long mantle ends in front of moire. The back is trimmed with bretelles of moire, with ends reaching to the bottom of the jacket. Four pelerines, alternately of velvet and moire, cover the arms and are surmounted by velvet epaulets embroidered with jet. The shoulders of the wrap are similarly embroidered, and the high collar is bordered with feathers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Swimming.

Swimming is an admirable exercise, reducing, as it does, to decrease the size of the hips, whose too great breadth has been declared the chief fault with the modern figure. If a girl can manage to go to a swimming school a couple of times a week, she needs no gymnasium.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Rosa Bonheur's paintings are scattered all over the world, and not many galleries have more than one or two specimens. It was therefore noted as a curiosity that at the recent art exposition at Frankfort-on-the-Main there were no fewer than nineteen of her paintings.

Harvard college a year ago, as a measure of economy, dropped Dr. Huntingdon, assistant in the laboratory and lecture room. His uncle, Professor Josiah P. Cooke, for over forty years in the faculty, seems to have noted the fact, for in his will, which gave the college are versionary interest in his $500,000 estate, there is a codicil cutting off the reversionary interest. And the codicil is dated October 30, 1893, just after Professor Cooke's nephew, whom he treated as a son was dismissed.

It is being told of Eugenie that on a late visit to Paris she went "incog." to a fashionable palmist to have her fortune read. As part of the necromancer's art is not to see his fair pentents, she had to put her hand through a slit in a screen. After quite a cursory examination, the fortune teller said: "Madame, your hand is so extraordinary that one of two things must be the truth; either my skill must be at fault for once, and I see impossible events, or you must be the Empress Eugenie, for no other hand could tell of such strange vicissitudes."

COMPLETE your sets of world's fair views. Memories of the great exposition are treasures to be guarded jealously, and in no way can they be recalled as vividly as by well-executed pictures. Call at the Gazette office for Shepp's series. A few complete sets may still be had.

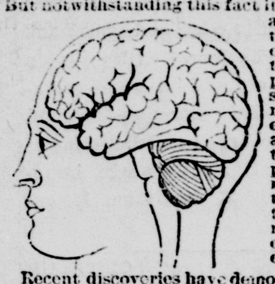
MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Sea of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.



Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

DR. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

Swallow, foretelling a rainy day,
Skimming the swaths of the new mown hay
Fly high, fly low,
I'd have you know.
Naught care I of tomorrow's weather,
For my love and I will be together,
And when that my love and I do meet—
"Sweet," did you say, little bird? "Sweet, sweet!'

Swallow, foretelling a sunny sky
Merrily circling the poplars high,
Fly high, fly low;
I'd have you know,
Or skies be sunny, or day be drear,
Naught care I of the morrow's weather;
My love is coming and will be here;
My love and I will be together,
And when that my love and I do meet—
"Sweet," did you say, little bird? "Sweet, sweet!"

LAS' OB DE VARDENS.

In the beautiful valley of the Shenandoah, with no sound to disturb the quiet of the summer day save the murmuring of the pine trees as they whisper to each other some tale, perhaps of far other scenes than these, of days when the peaceful valley was such a scene of human strife that the birds and bees and even the sweet wild roses that thrived there in unmolested possession disappeared to return in after years and find a picture of utter desolation.

It was while sojourning for a short time in the mountains overlooking the Shenandoah valley that I came across one of those living relics. She was only a poor old negro woman, who had been a slave and who, even after a quarter of a century of freedom, had almost failed to realize that she was free. There was nothing particular to recommend her to one's notice or call attention to her forlorn situation. She had been left all alone in the world—in her own words, "the last of the Vardens"—and judging from the grand air with which she announced that fact would have scorned the idea that she needed sympathy or pity as she stood amid the ruins of what had been a grand old southern home before the war, the home of the Vardens.

All that remained of the house, two tumbling chimneys, was overgrown by some kind of vine, which gave a sort of picturesque beauty to the forsaken scene. A little to the left and just in sight of where the house had been was an inclosure, in the center of which stood a tall monument, surrounded by smaller gravestones, marking the last resting place of the Vardens, who seemed to have turned their back upon their earthly possessions and laid their joys all away beneath the shadow of the great monument, leaving but one poor, crooked, feeble remnant of their departed greatness to occupy the rest of the estate and keep their memory green in her faithful old heart.

It was a warm day in June that I stood within the gates of Rocky Mead, as the place was called, and listened to a part of the family history of its former owner from the lips of old Juliette, who invited me to a seat under a large tree; then, seating herself near by, after apologizing for sitting in the presence of a white lady, said: "I'ze powerful glad to see white folks cep'n de common trash wat libs down in de valley. De fus famblies is all dade cep'n de Campbellses. Dey place is nex' to we alls. Our fambly war de bes' in Furginia." As she said this she straightened herself as much as age and rheumatism would permit.

"But," she continued sadly, "dey's all gone—all but me. I libs down at de ole quarters, do da is'n much lef, oney one cabin, dat's mo'n big enuff fo' me, mos' times, but wen I gits de raligy in legs an han's den de work ain' big enuff. But I has to stay an look after de place kase I'ze de las' one lef ob de fambly, an wen I meets ole Marse Richard in de nex' worl he's boun to ax me bout de old place. Fus thing he gwine say, 'Juliette, you allus would be de las' one, but I reckon we's all together now, an we unite in prayer,' jess as he uster ebery evenin. Marse Richard war a mitey good man. Ole miss, she de boss. She uster say nobody eber gwine conker her, an shore enuff nobody nebber did. She done all de conkerin. It war all long o' her dat my Miss Mary war forced to marry Marse Campbell's son, an den all de trubble come.

"My marster hab two sons, Marse Dick an Robert Dey jine de army one mornin, an Miss Mary tease de life nearly outen me to go wid her down in the valley whar de fightin war gwine on. She say she jis' wanter see der las' ob Dick and Bob. All de time I know she dyin to see Cap'n Hunter kase she dade in lub wid him, an me an Cap'n Hunter's boy, Long Jim, was co'tin too. But we all knowed ole miss don' sot her min on Miss Mary marryin Marse Will Campbell. He was orful rich, but he war ugly as satan—an dat's a fac'.

"Miss Mary, so sweet lookin dat all de young men in lub wid her, an she didn' care for none ob 'em, only Cap'n Hunter, an she say she gwine marry Jack Hunter or nobody. Ole miss say de Hunters didn' b'long to de fust famblies, an ef Cap'n Hunter 'tempted pay any 'tention to ary chile ob her'n she 'posed to interfere. So co'se we das'n' let her know 'at Cap'n Hunter war down dar in de cave under de hill wid Long Jim, waiten for me to fotch him a letter from Miss Mary jess if he didn' know she gwine break her neck almost to see hissef. Cap'n Hunter war de grandes' lookin man I eber sot my eyes on. He eyes fairly dance' when he saw us bofe comin, an he jes' tuk Miss Mary up in he arms an hole on to her an promise never let her go no more.

"But she blush all ober her face, an he say Jim to take de horse down to the stream to cool him off. So we tuk de horse up in de woods back ob de cave an tie him to a tree, whils' me an Jim sot down on de grass. Bimeby we heard a big rumblin soun lek thunder an saw de smoke in de valley an Cap'n Hunter comin runnin o'des us wid Miss Mary lookin like a ghose. Cap'n Hunter kiss her han an squeeze it tight an say, 'Goodby, little sweetheart,' an she say, 'Goodby, Jack.' Den he jump on his horse an rode away down into the noise an smoke. Miss Mary watch him till he all gone. Den I 'minds her dat ef old miss fin us out she gwine mek trouble for us. So we come back to de house. Aunt Maria met us at de do' an says, 'Dey's company in de parlor.' De minister an ole Marse Campbell wid his son an ole miss, dressed up wid her white lace cap on. Ole Marse Richard away at de wah. Miss Mary say she want be by herself, en ef anybody ax for her I'ze say she have a headache 'kase she wouldn' see de Campbellses den. But, honey, ole miss didn' ax me nuthin. She jess walk right in an say, 'Put Miss Mary' bes' dress on her, Juliette.'

"Den she tole Miss Mary somp'n' bote ole Marse Campbell gwine tek all de lan an de house kase Marse Richard owe him so much money, an den she an marster have no home in dey ole age, an it break her father's heart ef he eber come back an de place gon' out de fambly, an she say ef she love her father she gwine come right down an get married to Marse Will. Miss Mary lub her father mor'n anything, an ole miss talk an talk, an Miss Mary kepe her eyes on de big diamond ring dat Cap'n Hunter giv' her in de morn'n, wiles de tears rollin down her cheeks, an she ax es dey no other way, an her mother say dat wen she marry Marse Will he gwine mek her present ob de notes wid Marse Richard's name on 'em. Den de Campbellses place be jined to ourn, an it be de biggest 'state in de county. An she tell her how lek her father git shot in de wah an brung home an de isn' no home to come to, so dat settle it. Miss Mary sot orful still for a minute lek she thinkin, an den she say, 'I'ze ready for my father's sake, jess for him.' She wouldn't put on no other dress, but she say wait for me here, Juliette, an she walk down in de parlor, an I went down and peep froo a crack in de do. Miss Mary hol her lef' han behin her, an Marse will put de ring on her right han. She never look up once, an when ole Marse Campbell give her de note wot Marse Richard wrote to him bote de lan she han it to ole miss. Den Miss Mary ax 'em all leave her alone for one hour, an she come up to her room. In co'se I'ze waitin for her. She lock de do' an say, 'Juliette, be quick as you kin and hep me put on dat grey suit ob Brer Bob's.' I ax her wot she gwine do. She say: 'Don' ax any questions. I'ze gotter hurry,' so I hep her dress. We bofe so nervous dat we got de close on backward. She cryin kase she feared de Campbellses would come to fotch her 'fore she got de things on. But dey didn', an when she all drest in Marse Robert's school unionform she look jess like he did de last time he wore 'em. Den she say to me: 'I'ze gwine down dar in de valley, an I'ze nebber comin back no mo'. I wants yo' to tell father dat I sole my han to Will Campbell, wiles my heart an sole already belong to Jack Hunter.'

"Den she put her arms roun my neck an cry lek a baby, an we bofe creept down de back stairs an out froo de kitchen do', an she say goodby to me an tole me go back to de room an wait till her mother come there to git her. I'ze so skeart I couldn't think. Presently I hear ole miss callin, 'Miss Mary, Mary, come down.' I jess keep still as de grave till ole miss open de do' an says, 'Whar Miss Mary?' Las' I said, 'I dunno.' Den she skeart de trufe outen me, but I mix it all up, so dey couldn't understan. Fus' I say she gone up de hill. Wen dey say ef she tuk de road to de right han or de lef', I say she went down to'des de river, an all de time Miss Mary gainin on 'em. Wiles we all talkin one ob de Miller boys come in an say dat ole marse done been killed. Ole miss turn white as a sheet an 'pear like she gwine ter fall, an I so lonesome dat I sot down in de do' an cried.

"Jess as de sun war settin I look down de road an see Long Jim runnin to'des de house. I ax him ef he got eny news ob my Miss Mary, an he say Cap'n Hunter shot right froo de bress, an jess as he fall Miss Mary run, cryin to him dat she his little sweetheart, an beg him to doan't die. He know her do' she got on boy's close, an he smile at her till he dade. Jim drug de body onto de grass, an Miss Mary march right up to de front. Treckly she los' in de smoke ob de cannon, an wen de smoke clar away Jim he foun her bady all covered with blood an dust, an he lay her 'longside de cap'n.

"Soon after dat in one ob de big battles Marse Dick an Marse Bob both killed. Nobody lef' but ole miss an me.

"Aunt Mary an Milly dun run away wid a nigger sojer from up norf, an one night de house was set on fire an burn to de groun, wid all de outhouses, cep'n de cabin, whar I'ze libbed ebber since. Ole miss she run out ob de house in her nightgown an got a fever an died at ole Marse Campbell's. I'ze de only one ob de fambly dats lef'.

The Scarcity.

The millionaire from the east took a meal a la carte in a western restaurant, and when he came to pay his bill he called for the landlord.

"Here, landlord," he exclaimed, "this is too much. I won't pay it."

"What's the matter, sir?" replied the landlord very obsequiously.

"I say the bill is too much. You've got me charged $1 for two eggs. What's that for? Are eggs so scarce?"

"N-n-o, sir," hesitated and stammered the landlord, "but millionaires are."—Detroit Free Press.

THE FIRST THING IN THE MORNING

take a little Carlsbad Sprudel Salt in a glass full of water. That will set you right and keep you right, if you're inclined to be bilious or dyspeptic or constipated.

People wonder, sometimes, why it is that the Carlsbad treatment, the world's remedy for habitual constipation, should be recommended for diarrhœa and such disorders, too. Simply, because it leads the stomach and bowels naturally into a healthy condition, whatever their derangements—it doesn't accomplish its results by harmful irritation, as most pills and purgatives do.

Beware of imitations sold as "improved" or "artificial" Carlsbad Salt.

The only genuine Carlsbad Salt, with all the properties of the Sprudel Spring solidified, has the seal of the city of Carlsbad and the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON CO., Agents, New York," on every bottle. All others are worthless imitations.

But, All Things Considered, the Affair Was Not Beyond Remedy.

The story the young man told the reporter was about a runaway match between two young society people of Brooklyn and a divorce which had been kept secret. The story, as the reporter found it to be, is as follows:

Eddie Hubbell has just passed his tenth birthday. Jessie Lyng is almost 9 years old. When the time came for June brides a little playmate gave a party. A mock marriage was proposed and Eddie and Jessie were selected as bridegroom and bride. In her white dress and with an improvised orange wreath Jessie made as pretty a bride as a boy could ask.

Then Charlie—the awful Charlie—showed his hand. He was probably a cast off suitor. He bit his lips, in lieu of a mustache. He bided his time. Eddie wrote this note, and Charlie saw it:

"Dear Jessie—I love you. Do you love me? Do you want to ride on my veloc? Your friend, EDDIE HUBBELL."

Then Charlie wrote a letter and took it to Jessie. He didn't show her what was in it and promised her any kind of candy she wanted if she'd sign it. She did.

Jessie's father is a lawyer. He has lots of big red seals. And the letter that came and caused the trouble had, first, one of these awful legal seals; then the printed word "divorce." It continued:

"Dear Eddie—We do not love you and we will not ride on your veloc.
JESSIE."

Eddie was heart-broken when he showed this to his father, who is an editor.

Mrs. Hubbell showed the note to Mrs. Lyng. And there was a reconciliation. But just think how fin de siecle even little tots are.
